REAL ROMANCE OF BUSINESS.

Sir Marcus Samuel, Former Shopkeeper, Buys $25,000,000 Estate.

The life story of Sir Marcus Samuel, who has purchased from the Earl of Berkeley for the sum of $25,000,000 a parcel of the fashionable residential section of London, known as Berkeley Square, furnishes one of the real romances of the business world. Sir Marcus, in his early days, kept a little shop in one of the poorer quarters of the British metropolis, where he made and sold for a shilling or two ornamental boxes made of shells from the seashore. Later he invested his savings in oil, made money and started a company called the "Shell," thus identifying his big new venture with his original struggling business. Since those days he has accumulated a fortune of many millions and has been honored with a baronetcy. And all from selling shells from the seashore—mixed with an abundance of brains and energy.

Laureate Brown, a prominent attorney of Nashville, died Tuesday night.
